

THE TURF—DAY'S EVENTS ON TRACK, FIELD AND DIAMOND

BELL'S COLT WINS THE ORIENTAL

Col. Bill, Recently Purchased From J. E. Madden, Takes Up Top Weight and Beats Good Field in Stake Event.

GRAVESEND'S LAST DAY

Meeting Comes to an End With Big Crowd Present Despite Unfavorable Weather—Four Favorites Get the Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The Brooklyn Jockey Club's fall meeting closed today at Gravesend under unfavorable weather conditions, yet 15,000 enthusiasts were on hand to enjoy some fine sport. Seven races were run, four favorites and two second choices, and one outsider landing the money. The track was dead, a drizzling rain falling all the afternoon.

The best performance of the day was that of the three-year-old colt Colonel Bill, recently purchased by L. V. Bell from J. E. Madden. He took up 120 pounds in the Oriental Handicap for all ages, at a mile and one-quarter, and so confident was the talent that he could defeat Herbert, Igniter, and Bonniert that he was quickly made an even-money favorite, backed from 5 to 5. Herbert receded to 7 to 2, with Bonniert at four and Igniter at sixes.

Col. Bill in Front.

The moment Starter Pettigill sprang the barrier, Colonel Bill was away with a pace that indicated fast time. He kept an advantage of a length all the way up the backstretch, though first challenged by Herbert and then by Igniter. In the last quarter Odum, finding that Colonel Bill was tiring under the weight, began to ride him, finally being compelled to put the son of Wagner under a heavy drive to defeat Igniter by a half a length. Herbert was five lengths behind and eight lengths before Bonniert, who was always last. The race was run in 2:06, which caused many compliments to be showered on the winner.

Astarita All the Way.

The Prospect Handicap for two-year-olds, at about six furlongs, attracted a high-class lot of youngsters to the post. J. R. and F. P. Keene's injunction, and Julius Fleischmann's Hurstbourne were equal favorites at four, with heavy support for J. G. Pollanabee's Astarita, J. P. Krane's Golden Maxim, J. E. Bladen's River Pirate, and J. B. Haggis's Sir Voorhes.

Eleven were sent away to a good start, with Astarita quickly assuming a lead that she never relinquished, she winning in a mild drive by a length and a half in 1:10. The struggle for the place was red-hot, Hurstbourne taking it by a head from Golden Maxim, who beat River Pirate by a neck.

Three long shots out the purse in the High Weight Handicap for all ages, at about six furlongs. The Western horse Sybil was the favorite, with Mabel Winn and Jack-O'-Lantern not far behind in favor, but all of them finished in the rack. Kingrairie, at 20 to 1, got the verdict by a neck, with Belle of Lexington, 12 to 1; Ondurdis, 60 to 1; and Jack-O'-Lantern following heads and necks apart, as named. This was the most stirring race of the day.

Ethics Gets Up in Time.

M. F. Dwyer's Ethics, a favorite, got up in time to win the second race for selling players, at a mile and a sixteenth, by a head, with Brunswick, who was in front most of the way, a length before Boaster, 15 to 1. The latter's rider, Michaels, lodged a protest of foul against Brunswick, who crossed him in the last sixteenth, but it was not allowed.

The famous Ranocosa colors were seen in front when Pierre Lorillard's filly, Ancke, captured the fifth event for two-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs. She had three parts of a length over Lady Josephine, the favorite, who was five lengths before the Mesars. Keene's Ringdove.

Only Three Starters.

Foraster, an odds-on favorite, took the sixth event, at a mile and a sixteenth, in which there were only three starters, in a gallop. The start killed Bellario's chances, as he was turned when the barrier went up, and though he caught the others and raced gamely with Zoroaster head and head to the far turn, he faded away in the stretch. Krupp cut into the place, finishing a length and a half behind the winner.

Right and True, who was an equal favorite with Lord Turco and Miss Dorothy, won the last race, for two-year-olds, at five and a half furlongs, in a gallop, leading from the start. Sheriff Bell secured the place by half a length from Florham Queen, 60 to 1.

DISAGREEABLE RACING WEATHER AT HARLEM

Track Very Heavy and the Horses Have Hard Work Plowing Through the Mud.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 4.—More disagreeable weather for racing would be hard to find than that at Harlem today. The rain fell all afternoon and it was cold. The track was very heavy and the horses had hard work plowing through the mud. Despite the unfavorable conditions, the form players were lucky enough to land on four of the winners. The other two races were won by moderately played horses, so the books had a losing day.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 4.—The Lemp Brewing Company's Stake was the feature of a fair card at the Fair Grounds today. Jack Young was made the choice of the talent, but he had to lower his colors to the 12 to 1 shot Sailor's Dream, who beat him out at the end handily. Gold Bell was third.

The weather was cloudy and the track in very bad condition, the going being sticky and holding. As a consequence, not a favorite got to the wire in front. M'ELWEE HORSES FAIL TO BRING HIGH PRICES

Gold Heels Goes for $6,500, While Major Daingerfield Is Sold for $10,500.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—The prices realized at the sale of the horses owned by Gen. F. C. McElwee and his partner "Diamond Jim" Brady, held outside the Gravesend paddock today, were rather disappointing. The fact that the celebrated stake winners, Gold Heels and Major Daingerfield, were to be placed under the hammer served to cause unusual interest, but when the bidding for these stars began much surprise was expressed at the backwardness of would-be purchasers to run the figures up.

Although it was common talk among the trainers that Gold Heels had practically broken down and would never be able to race again, Matt Allen said that the son of The Bard had been galloping easily on the boulevard for the last ten days and was apparently sound. The bidding was very slow, "Winnie" O'Connor, the jockey, finally getting the horse for $6,500.

Major Daingerfield, whose stake winnings amounted to $60,000 this year, likewise went begging. C. A. Draper, who was a stranger to the turfmen present, but who is said to be a friend of General McElwee, bid $10,500, and the colt went to him.

The sale netted McElwee $28,450 for eleven head.

Where Jack Cade Died.

Interest attaches to the freehold sporting estate, "Newick Farm," formerly called "Cade's Castle," Heathfield, which is to be sold by Messrs. Brackett & Sons, at the mart on the 21st instant, as the residence on the estate is an old Sussex moated house, formerly the home of Jack Cade, in the front garden of which, tradition says, he was slain by the Sheriff of Kent. On the main road, not far from Newick farm, stands a monument called "Jack Cade's Stone," on which is the following inscription: "Near this spot was slain the notorious rebel, Jack Cade, by Alexander Iren, Esq., Sheriff of Kent, A. D. 1595. His body was carried to London and his head used upon London bridge. This is the success of all rebels, and this 'fortune' chanceeth ever to traitors."—Westminster Gazette.

OF INTEREST TO LOCAL ATHLETES

The Departmental and Bank Clerks' Bowling Leagues Opened the Local Season Last Week—Contests Good

NEW A. A. U. COMMITTEE

Y. M. C. A. Arranging for Inter-City Series—C. I. Teams—Corcoran's Probable Line-up—National Guard's Gym.

"How's your bowling thumb?"

The local bowling season opened in earnest last Monday on the Palace alleys with sets of championship games in the Departmental and the Bank Clerks' Leagues, and the pin-boys have been busy several hours each night ever since setting up for the ambitious young bowling teams, for the above leagues are the babies among local ten-pin organizations.

As a result of their early work, thumbs are sore, and the above query generally took the place of one about the weather or the coal supply all last week.

In the Departmental League the teams representing the Treasury, Commissioners' Office, Navy Yard and Bureau showed up the best in the opening series, each winning two games out of a set of three. The Census, Postoffice, Navy Department and Interior had the short end of the totals.

Commissioners Are Strong.

The Postoffice team failed to show up as well as was expected of it, being weak in one or two places. Besides this, it had the misfortune to tie a frame with the Commissioners and lost on the roll-off in last week's games.

The Commissioners' team is strong, and should hold a leading place. It has on it Meyers, an old Saengerbund bowler, who led the opening set, with an average of 177, one of his strings showing 208. Milligan is a well-known bowler, who, with Barr, will help make this a strong team.

The league closed its first week with games on Friday night between the Bureau of Engraving and Interior Department, and on account of the G. A. R. encampment its teams will not bow again until Monday, October 13, when the Census and Commissioners will line up.

Bank Clerks' Bowling League.

One of the most enthusiastic young organizations that has recently broken into the local bowling game is the Bank Clerks' League. It is composed of ten teams, the members of which are nearly all young men who bring into the game the spirit of rivalry somewhat akin to that of college athletes.

Its championship season opened last Monday on the Palace alleys, where all its games will be bowled. In the opening set the National Metropolitan team won one and lost two to the Columbia Nationals, and the second Nationals did likewise to the Riggs team.

The West End has won three games and lost one, the National Capital suffered a defeat.

On Friday night the Washington Loan and Trust team took the place of the Traders' Bank "five," which withdrew from the league. The new team played a set with the American Security and Trust, and celebrated the occasion by winning the full set of three games.

The teams are composed of players new to the game, and as a result, the scores do not compare very favorably with the strings bowled by veterans, but if hard practice will aid them they will be rolling fair averages in a month or so.

The league will not bowl any championship games during encampment week and will take up the schedule again on October 13, when the National Capital and American Security will meet.

Athletics at Y. M. C. A.

The managers of the Y. M. C. A. basketball and indoor baseball teams will make a feature this season of inter-city series with Y. M. C. A. teams in Baltimore, Wilmington, and Cambridge.

This method will not only serve to bring the associations of these cities close together in a friendly way, but will give the team an opportunity of playing some of the strongest in the game.

The basketball team is negotiating for games with the Central and West Branch Y. M. C. A. of Baltimore, and Wilmington and Cumberland Y. M. C. A. and the indoor baseball managers hope to arrange an inter-city series with Central and West Branch Y. M. C. A. and Vorwaerts of Baltimore.

Football Candidates.

An unusually large number of candidates are trying for places on the football team and the indications are that it will be a light but fast eleven. The men are taking practice at Association Park and it is expected that a team will be in the field ready for play by next Wednesday week.

No special effort will be made to arrange games with out of town teams, but dates with local organizations will be solicited.

Among the candidates taking practice under the direction of the physical instructors are the following and the positions they are trying for: C. E. James, temporary captain; B. Bielaski, and J. Burrus, Jr., ends; R. Catchings, P. E. Burke, W. Craig, backs; D. G. Sutton, fullback; H. L. Newton, E. Fredell and H. R. Rederick, quarterbacks; T. Morrison, halfback; D. F. McGowan and J. A. Loughran, tackles; J. Graham, T. F. Ireland, R. N. Joab, and T. Richardson, guards; J. Orme and Barsford, center.

Gymnasium Classes.

The work in the gymnasium will be taken up in earnest next week and Physical Directors Rideout and Beckett expect this to be the busiest season in the history of the organization.

The classes for journalists, students, department clerks and for graded work have had the following hours fixed for them: 10:30 a. m., 3:15, 4:30 and 8:15

p. m. The juniors will have three afternoons and Saturday morning each week.

Carroll Institute Gymnasium.

If the basketball team representing Carroll Institute this season does not win the championship the other teams in the league will know that there has been a race for the pennant. Prof. Joyce believes that he will have the strongest and fastest team he has ever had.

The team practices on Tuesday and Thursday nights, and every member is expected to be promptly on hand or lose his place. There will be practically two teams, and these will be selected from among the following: Thompson, Cutler, Crowley, Hollander, Harding, McLane, Costello, O'Dwyer, O'Connor, Kerr, Quattrill, and Huth.

The indoor baseball team will be practically the same as last season, and, being very close to nearly all the departments, it should make a warm race against the champion Y. M. C. A. team. Fitzgerald is a new man and said to be very clever as a fielder and batter.

New Features in Class Work.

Prof. Joyce has introduced a number of new features in his class drill work, and these are shown on Monday and Thursday nights and upon these occasions a special invitation is extended to the public to witness the work.

The drills are especially adapted to persons feeling the lack of light but systematic exercise, and Prof. Joyce would like to interest business men and department workers in his classes.

Classes for ladies were opened on Thursday afternoon with an unusually large attendance.

Corcoran Cadet Corps.

The Corcoran Cadet Corps management will this season adopt the plan of former years of having two basketball teams to try for the league. The team winning the greater number of games in the test series will be known as the first team and the other will be the reserve or second team. It is a plan which with profit could be followed by other organizations.

During the past week two teams have lined up several times and played spirited games and Manager Edwards found his charges putting up a good article of the game.

The teams were made up as follows:

Hollidge, Hale, and Lewis are new men in the game, but they handle themselves well and will be found useful men to have on the floor.

Light, But Fast Team.

Barnholt has returned to the city and is in good shape for the game and with him in the team Captain Edwards will have experienced men to begin with.

The team will probably start off with: Nash and Barnholt, forwards; Boyle, center; Shoemaker and Dragger or Dowling, backs. This is a light but fast team, and with Heffer in the game, the Corcorans will have another champion team.

The indoor baseball team which practiced with the Ureil Rifles last week and made a good showing, and the following players: Boyle, Lewis, and E. Handboe, pitchers; W. Handboe, catcher; Bouvet, first base; Shoemaker, second; Walters, right short; Dragger, left short; Donovan, third; Tucker and extra men in outfield.

Captain Edwards has quite a task before him selecting captains for the two teams. For basketball, Shoemaker, Walters, and Boyle are being considered, and for baseball, Handboe, Bouvet, and Dragger are looked upon with favor.

National Guard's Gymnasium.

The coming season promises to be an unusually active one in the ranks of the National Guard Athletic Association. More men have taken up the work than ever before, and the number and character of the competitions this winter will give every man a chance
